2. TIN description

The personal identification number is a constant identifier of any person (natural or legal) that the public authorities use in the official records, in their everyday work and by data exchange. Personal identification number began with introducing in the Republic of Croatia on 1st January 2009 and from 1st January 2011 began its full application, which means that the personal identification number became the only identifier of persons in the Croatian legal system.

3. Where to find TINs?

Personal identification number appears on the Certificate of personal identification number, personal ID that is issued from 10th June 2013, driving licence that is issued from 01st July 2013, biometric passports that are issued from 30th June 2009, health card and on every return and other submissions on tax, administrative procedures and payment operations.
